RUSTON ENGINEERING & PROJECT MANAGEMENT FIRM HOTLISTED 2011

HGA - Pioneering in Natural Gas, Oil, & Pipeline, Ranked Top 20 by ZweigWhite

RUSTON, LOUISIANA – Hunt, Guillot, and Associates (HGA) celebrates high ranking on The Zweig Letter Hot Firm List 2011. Indicating forward-movement in business practices and devotion to success in industry progression, HGA has been ranked No. 16 out of more than 175 engineering and environmental consulting firms evaluated in the North Americas. Even more impressive, HGA was ranked No. 2 in Construction Management. HGA shared top 20 rankings with only two other US Gulf Coast firms. ZweigWhite evaluated these companies primarily off of change of revenue and earnings.

Hunt, Guillot, and Associates' (HGA) increasing revenues and earnings are an upshot of its ongoing work and presence in the Haynesville, Marcellus and Eagle Ford Shale Plays – expanding in 2011 by adding a new office in Pittsburg, PA. In addition, much credit goes to HGA's Program Management business unit whose excellent service record resulted in a contract extension and expansion with the State of Louisiana's Office of Community Development. HGA serves a number of industries and boasts a broad range of clients from local city governments to Fortune 100 companies such as Royal Dutch Shell and DuPont.

The ZweigWhite Reports clearly indicate the best in business practices and performance. The management of Hunt, Guillot, and Associates (HGA) extends a parallel outlook to each of its clients, company business units, and community. When asked how this report reflects HGA's perception of placement within the industry and any future goals, President Trotter Hunt said, "HGA is proud to receive this recognition and feels very fortunate given these difficult economic times. We attribute our ongoing success to delivering on the commitments we make to our clients and building client relationships for the long term."
